Perhaps one of the most disheartening things is to see the divisions within our own communities—especially our faith communities. Where two or more are gathered, disagreements are always possible. We need to remember what bonds us together and trust that we are all interested in what is best for the community. We need to really listen to each other with respect and consider their view. We need to be willing to change our view and find consensus. Are you willing to put the good of the community first or do you just want to “win” the argument?

Let there be no factions; rather, be united in mind and judgment.—1 Corinthians 1:10

Remember in your Prayers:
